ST. VINCENT'S HOME FOR THE INSANE IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

ment that they Propose to Give-Their First Patient-Plans for the Future. About a mile and a half from the station at Harrison, Westchester County, is a somewhat old but recently renovated three-story frame building. It is on high ground, and it commands a magnificent view of Long Island Sound, which is less than three miles distant. The house is surrounded by grounds beautifully laid out, offering an abundant display of building itself is concerned, there is little that is modern about its exterior beyond its freshly appiled paint and its French roof. Everything appertaining to the dwelling, as it is first seen, indicates that it is nothing more or less than a model country boarding house, charmingly than ordinary taste and skill; and an impresthe mind of a casual observer, to be speedily erased, however, as he reads the inscription on an arched frame over the gate, "St. Vincent's Betreat for the Insane," The institution is a branch of St. Vincent's Foundling Asylum in Sixty-eighth street, New York, and is in the first year of its existence. It is managed by nine Sisters of Charity, the known simply as Sister Mary Frances, whose twenty-five years' experience as Superior of the Prince Street Orphan Asylum has fitted her for the position which she fills.

Some time ago the Superors of the Order of St. Vincent came to the conclusion that there this work is comparatively light, but the rule now is, as it is to be hereafter, that no Sister shall, under any circumstances, enter the ward of another. If assistances is required in any ward it must be furnished by those in some other department, but the plan of making each insane woman in the institution look only to the Sister size sees daily and hourly for assistance and control is thought to be of vital importance. In the second story is a room that at present does duty as an office, but the Sister who has charge of the large and handsome set of books has not, so far, been overburdened with her duties as an accountant. Only seven entries appear in the daily record. Of these, one (the first) was discharged cursed; one entered the Retreat in a dying condition, and lived only a short time, and five remain. The first name in the book is that of the much-loved patient who went home to die. No other entry has been made upon that page or on the page opposite,—"And none will ever be made," said the Sister, sorrowfully, as she closed the book. If this institution is in existence a century from to-day that name shall stand alone, as it stands now, to tell the Sisters who succeed us here the name of our first patient."

Around the building lie twenty-two acres of choice and highly cultivated ground. Less than a quarter of a mile from the house is a lake supplied by springs. It is 200 feet long by 150 feet wide. The Faith that the Sisters Have in the Treat

Dr. Damrosch and Gen. Cesnola. Every seat in the Academy of Music was occupied yesterday morning when President Barnard of Columbia College, the faculty, and trustees seated themselves upon the platform. college. So many bouquets and cut flowers had and corridors were filled with their fragrance. Probably at few previous occasions of this kind have so many beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers been passed up to the orators. To one have so many beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers been passed up to the orators. To one graduate so many bouquets were given that he was compelled to make three trips behind the wings in order to dispose of his load. Meantime the exercises rested, and the dignified faculty watched the burdened and embarrassed orator. The proseenium boxes, the logges on the upper tier, and a large part of the body of the house were occupied by indies, who clapped their hands enthusiastically. Even the Greek saintatory cratton, delivered by Mr. W. W. Scrugham, was reseived by the ladies with every appearance of comprehension and appreciation.

Henry A. Short recited a Latin poem. Orations were delivered by Frederick B. Browning of the School of Mines on "The Demand for Scientific Methods in Mining." by Landreth H. King on "Music," by James L. Greenleaf on "Engineering, Ancient and Modern," and by Henry S. May on "Francis Bacon."

After this the names of the honor men in the graduating class were announced, as follows:

First Honer Class—W. W. Scrugham, H. A. Short, L. H. King, H. S. May, G. H. Waring.

Second Romor Class—C. M. Roome, M. E. Lehman, J. W. Carliss, Howard Coghili C. F. Moody, J. A. Locke, Jr. F. D. Philips.

Third Homer Class—L. N. Adler, S. R. Stewart, C. A. O'Neil, E. S. Porter, Jr., G. E. Blackwell, W. L. Robb, W. Newbrough, W. H. Roome, W. F. Morzen, H. P. Gerbert, The following scholarships, worth $100 each, were neared.

Mrs. Slater also accuses the Commissioner of having illegally accepted $50 from the putative father of the child, and of having retained the money. The warrant for Commissioner Ryan's arrest was granted by Justice C. F. Wulf of Fiatbush, before whom raigned." It is all a lie, and a tissue of lies. I have been ready to do my duty for the support of this child, but the woman has failed to come of this child, but the woman has failed to come near me."

The complainant's counsel said that the unfortunate mother had been to the Commissioner six times, and had been turned away. He read from the Revised Statues to show that any Charity Commissioner who failed to provide for the support of an illegitimate child or its mother was guilty of a misdemennor, and liable to imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year, and to pay a fine of $250. The counsel claimed that the Commissioner had stepped in to shield the putative father of the child, and after receiving $50 from him, had given him a pretended discharge and had corruptly kept the money.
